Problems

- Paper and Airlaid wipes lack strength and cause excessive consumption, causing increased waste which leads to high disposal costs and time spent emptying bins
- Industrial areas are dealing with tough to clean surfaces that contain grease, oil and dirt which can cause high consumption of poor quality wipes, adding unneeded costs to your process
- Industrial areas often require solvents to ensure the most stubborn dirt will get removed, many cloths and wipes are not resistant to solvents and can degrade or breakdown in use

Solutions

- The DuraWipe range is strong and durable, both wet and dry making them ideal for a range of industrial cleaning tasks and are available in a range of dispensing options to best suit your task
- Thanks to their unique construction they are able to absorb like tissue, removing all fluids quickly and effectively. But providing far greating strength and durability to help you reduce waste
- Solvent resistant and therefore fully compatible with your choice of solvent without facing deterioration in performance
